

NCK days

On 27 and 28 march the annual event “the NCK-days” took place at Deltares, Delft. It started with a very interesting tour in the Prinsenhof Museum, an icebreaker so that all 80 participants could get to know each other. For the two days a very nice program was put together: 25 speakers gave presentations about the following subjects:

- beach barrier coasts
- bio-geomorphology
- sand/mud
- tidal inlets and estuaries
- seabed and shelf

All presentations were very interesting, and speakers varied from old and famous ones to very young master students.

To make sure everybody noticed Encora during the NCK-days, Encora put together a network game and a quiz. The price was a fine bottle of red wine from Chateau Encora, a vineyard somewhere in Europe. Because eventually, events like the NCK-days are made for networking...
